

Washing your hands is one of the most important things adults and children can do to prevent the spread of viruses and diseases.

Not washing your hands properly, or not washing your hands at all, can cause illness, but it is crucial in light of the COVID-19 (corona) pandemic nowadays.

The latest science shows that children are not heavily affected by COVID-19 and that they are not a high risk. They are still infectious, especially when coming in contact with grandparents or chronically ill family members and friends. It is, therefore, important that children of a young age learn how to implement the correct hand washing methods.

Children do not need to know all the facts to understand the severity of COVID-19, because this can increase their fear when they are confronted with social isolation and are not allowed to go to school or kindergarten. To prevent COVID-19, this memory game helps children and their friends learn the right hand-washing methods from their tv-heroes and have fun.

This memory game is played with two to four players and takes 15 to 20 minutes on average. The game is suitable for kids from the age of three.
